

Two NBA players

There are many good basketball players, but there aren't many like LeBron James and Stephen Curry. They are great NBA players from the USA, and everyone likes them.

James is a born basketball player. His body is perfect for the sport. He is strong and tall. But this is not enough. James practices every day and puts his all into every game.

On the other hand, Curry is not very tall, but he makes up for it with a lot of practice. He is very good at three-pointers, and he stands out in every game.

James and Curry are very different, but with hard work, they are both top NBA players.